This add-on has been tested with Opera 10.The effects of a resistive-type Vibro-Aire footbath on pressure and self-reported function in the foot. This study investigated the immediate effects of a footbath on pressure and self-reported function in patients with foot disorders. Seventy-one participants with foot pain were randomized into 3 groups (24-hr footbath, 3-hr footbath, or no footbath) after baseline measurements. Foot pressures (under the metatarsal heads and at the hallux), foot pain, and self-reported function (AFOOT and PPAFOOT) were measured at baseline and after the treatment. The footbath treatment resulted in immediate significant pressure reductions (P )">
