Quote by oscar van hoesel : "Repairing a failed hard drive can be a daunting process -- you'll need access to a live Linux environment to get some operating. OS World has full hard drives features, which make it the best tool for. Google has recently announced some very interesting things for its Android users including the Android 4.3 OS, and a new Voice Search and onscreen keyboard. The latest Android updates brought some very useful changes and improvements which include - Onscreen Keyboard – The onscreen keyboard has received some improved animations, a new background, along with a couple of other minor improvements. The iOS 7 onscreen keyboard is much better in terms of usability, but the Android onscreen keyboard still has a way to go. Voice Search – The voice search feature has been receiving updates as Google has been testing it to see how it works out. The voice search is almost similar to Siri, with the use of a microphone to provide suggestions. This is a much needed improvement in terms of user experience, and should be made available to all Android devices. Android 4.3 – The new OS, Android 4.3 is now available in both, the official Android Market and the Google Play Store. The Android 4.3 brings along a few new changes with the Android OS, including the much needed improvements to notifications, as well as a new Camera app.

Some of the enhancements made to the notifications include – iMessage notification – The ability to send iMessages from f30f4ceada
